

CANNOT FORBID SIGNBOARDS, SAYS SWART

SUPERVISORS HAVE NO POWER TO PROHIBIT SIGNS BUILT ON PRIVATE PROPERTY, THE OPIN-ION OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

At Monday's meeting the board of supervisors took up matters brought to its attention by the San Mateo County Federation of Women's Clubs at last meeting, namely the regulating or prohibiting of the peddling of flowers, fruit and vegetables on the county highways and the signboard along the roads. Action on both these heads was laid over from last meeting pending instructions from the district attorney as to the board's powers in these matters. District Attorney Swart's reply was that, in his opinion, the selling of flowers, fruit and vegetables on the highway should be encouraged rather than forbidden, but that some means of regulation should be found. As to the signboards now clustering so thickly along the highways and obscuring the view, District Attorney Swart informed the board that it could prohibit them only where they were shown to be a menace to public safety, otherwise the erecting of signboards on private property was out of its jurisdiction.

An invitation for the board to attend a luncheon in San Mateo to be given in honor of the supervisors of San Francisco was extended by Daniel C. Imboden, secretary of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Associations, and was accepted by Supervisors Hickey, Brown and Thompson. An invitation to inspect the studios of the Pacific Studios Corporation with the San Francisco officials could not be accepted, owing to other engagements. Urged by Secretary Imboden to appropriate $1500 for a Cottrell survey of the county's highways, parks and resources, it was stated that this should have been brought up before the county tax rate was fixed, as no money was now available. District Attorney Swart was instructed to look into the matter and advise the board as to how the money might be secured.

A draft of the new county ordinance governing the weight of loads that may be carried on the county highways was presented and will be passed upon at a later meeting.

A communication from the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce endorsing a bond issue for the construction of the eastside highway, approving the Cottrell survey, and urging that the board invite the Western Pacific Railroad Company to establish a modern electric railroad between San Francisco and San Jose, was ordered filed.

County Engineer George Kneese submitted plans and specifications for a storm drain near the Seven-Mile House on the San Bruno road, which were accepted and the county clerk ordered to advertise for bids for the work, such bids to be opened October 10th.

The board adjourned to meet again October 3d.

APPORTIONMENT OF SCHOOL FUND GIVEN

Announcement Made That San Mateo
County Schools Are to Get Large Sum in First Division.

That San Mateo county elementary schools will receive $135,100 and the county high schools $8800 in the first apportionment of state school funds for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, is the announcement issued Tuesday from the office of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction.

The total apportionment of state school funds amounts to $11,490,700, and represents the first payment carrying out the provisions of constitutional amendment No. 16. It is the largest apportionment ever made to California schools in the history of the state.

Of the total apportionment, the elementary schools will receive $10,831,800 and the high or secondary schools $658,900. The apportionment to elementary schools was made on the basis of $700 per teacher, as fixed by the last legislature. The money apportioned to the high schools is on the basis of $550 per year maintained.

Los Angeles county will receive approximately one-fourth of the entire apportionment, the elementary schools of that county receiving $2,574,635 and the high schools $92,400. San Francisco county comes second with $973,700 for the elementary schools and $11,000 for the high schools.

YOUNG SOLDIER ARRIVES AT FATHER'S HOME WITH BRIDE

Thele Lendewig had a pleasant surprise a few days ago when his son, Emell, arrived at his home, 623 Linden avenue, with a young bride. The young couple came from Astoria, Ore. Young Lendewig was recently discharged from the army at Fort Stevens. The couple were accompanied south by several friends. Emell Lendewig and wife will take up their residence in San Francisco and the young man will begin a career as a boxer under the management of his father. Mr. Lendewig's son, Elmer, and daughter, Mrs. S. Dunn, the latter a resident of San Jose, were visitors Sunday, and a family reunion at the Lendewig home took place.

TWO IN NARROW ESCAPE WHEN AIRPLANE FALLS

Forced to make a hurried landing in the open field south of town Sunday, Captain A. F. Herold and Private Bell, driving an army De Havilland airplane, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury. When almost to earth and gliding quietly down, the plane was caught in a cross current of air and plunged to the ground nose first. The airship was badly damaged, but the two passengers escaped with minor scratches and bruises. They stated that their motor ran out of oil and "stalled." The machine was towed into San Francisco.

ATHLETIC CLUB PLANS ANOTHER WHIST PARTY

The last whist party given by the Junior Athletic Club proved so successful that the boys have decided to hold another. It is announced for the evening of October 6th, and will be held at All Souls' parish hall. The boys will appear in uniforms purchased with funds from their last party.

WORK STARTS ON BIG SPEEDWAY ENTERPRISE

Huge Saucer at San Carlos to Be the Fastest Track in the World.

Ground was broken Sunday at San Carlos for the big new speedway officials of the company and a large number of invited guests participating in the ceremony.

The Three Cities Chamber of Commerce was represented by Frederick Smith and F. E. Beer of San Mateo, and many people from all points on the peninsula were in attendance.

Frew Morton, president of the building company, said that he and his associates had made a careful search for a suitable location for the speedway near San Francisco, and had finally decided to locate at San Carlos, where they found the most ideal spot. The track and grandstand will be located on the Phelps property east of the Southern Pacific railroad and highway where the Varney aviation field is now located.

It was stated by Jack Prince, who will have charge of construction, that the speedway will be the fastest in the world, and it is expected that a speed of 120 miles an hour may be obtained. This is eight miles an hour faster than the Cotati track at Santa Rosa. The track will be saucer shaped and one and a quarter miles in length. The grandstand will accommodate 45,000 people.

Lumber and material are now being delivered at the field, and it is planned to have the track finished early in December, weather permitting. The present plans call for the opening on December 11th, with some of the most famous drivers in the United States at the wheel.

Captain Henry Gleeson, commanding the San Francisco traffic squad, was master of ceremonies, and predicted that the new speedway would bring thousands of people to San Mateo county. The San Francisco Motor Car Dealers' Association and the California Automobile Association were also represented in the gathering.

MISS BERNICE HOLBROOK CELEBRATES HER BIRTHDAY

Miss Bernice Holbrook celebrated her birthday anniversary by entertaining twenty of her young friends Saturday evening at her home on Baden avenue. Games and dancing were enjoyed during the evening and refreshments were served.

CHAMBER WANTS ALL EXHIBITS TOGETHER

Manufacturers to Show at Exposition
Are Urged to Co-operate.

Secretary H. E. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce has announced that all local industrial plants which expect to have an exhibit at the California Industries Exposition, to be held in San Francisco from November 19th to December 10th, should get in touch with him before reserving their booths at the big show. It is expected that a number of local factories will have exhibits at the exposition, and it is desired that all these should be together to make as large a showing as possible. If all the manufacturing concerns co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce in this way, the result will be a great advertisement for this city and its commercial resources and advantages.

The California Industries Exposition will be held in the civic auditorium, San Francisco, and is a part of the great B-B advertising campaign under the management of Dr. B. M. Rastall.

REV. E. H. MOLONY IS GIVEN OCEAN VIEW AND BARNABAS

The Rev. E. H. Molony, pastor of Grace Episcopal Church of South San Francisco, will hereafter be also in charge of work for his church at Ocean View and St. Barnabas charges in San Francisco. These two charges are in close proximity to Daly City, and Mr. Molony plans to give as much time as possible to the work in the two places without embarrassing his work in South San Francisco. At present laymen are carrying on the church work in Ocean View and Barnabas and a great impetus is expected in this work by the appointment by Bishop Parsons of the Rev. Mr. Molony as "Priest in Charge" at the Church of the Transfiguration, Ocean View, and St. Barnabas. Mr. Molony will conduct services at Ocean View next Sunday at 11 a. m.

MRS. WHITTEN DELEGATE TO METHODIST CONFERENCE

The annual northern California conference of the Methodist Church is being held from Wednesday of this week until next Monday at San Jose. Mrs. Edna Whitten has been chosen delegate from the South San Francisco Methodist church and Mrs. Blanche E. Sullivan alternate delegate.

ADVERTISING SPACE

From the Byron (Calif.) Times.

The Red Bluff Daily News submits this statement: "If you had newspaper space to sell, and a payroll to meet, would you sell your space to business men who want it or would you hold it for local people who won't take it and who sometimes declare advertising doesn't pay?"

The question is one that concerns newspaper editors everywhere. In many places, notably smaller communities, the newspaper has a hard struggle for existence. It may be a live sheet, splendidly edited, but the local merchant feels that "everybody knows him" and that it is not necessary to advertise; that he does about "the same amount of business anyway."

He fails to appreciate what it means to his community to spread the news abroad of its doings, of its achievements and of its opportunities for new settlers.

Every new family means at least $1000 yearly spent in that community. Every merchant gets his share of this.

In supporting the merchant by advertising, the merchant encourages enterprise on the part of the publisher, and the greater the publicity given the town and district the more rapid the growth. The local newspaper is the chamber of commerce and publicity bureau combined. It should have the support of every one, to the end that the greatest amount of good may be accomplished.

Thousands of dollars' worth of free advertising is given every year to the community by the local newspaper. Every little thing is boosted, and people abroad begin to find out what a fine place your town is.

Only in advertising can the local newspaper find reward for its effort. The subscriptions do not more than pay for the cost of publishing and delivering the paper.

In supporting the paper by advertising, the merchant is contributing not only to his direct benefit, but to the future of the community.

Naturally, if there is not sufficient income from local sources to pay the bills, and leave a fair margin of profit, there can be no question of the justification of the newspaper in accepting advertising from abroad.

The people of Byron, for instance, would not have the Byron Times for another issue if it were not for outside advertising. The fact that this advertising space is in demand by outsiders is a tribute to the paper—to its influence and wide circulation.

The Red Bluff News wisely says that "newspaper space is not for handpicked customers, any more than is the commodity of any other business. And all other business sells its wares where it can find a customer."

CITY TRUSTEES FIX TAX RATE FOR YEAR

New Rate to Be $1.44; Chamber of Commerce Urges Continuation of Tree Planting Program.

South San Francisco's tax rate for the coming year will be $1.44 on the $100 assessed valuation. This was decided at Monday night's meeting of the city trustees, when the rate was formally adopted. This is an increase of 4 cents over the rate of last year, and was fixed only after the most careful figuring by the city officials on the amount of money necessary to carry the city government through another year.

A communication from the mayor of Santa Monica, Calif., conveyed a special invitation to the city trustees and other officials to attend the convention of the League of California Municipalities at the beach town the latter part of this month. City Clerk Daniel McSweeney and City Attorney J. W. Coleberd will attend the convention as representatives of this city. City Health Officer J. C. McGovern and several of the trustees may go, but have not definitely decided as yet.

A letter was read from the Chamber of Commerce of this city, urging the trustees to continue the tree planting campaign started last year. The letter also urged the installation of an electroliner system of street lights for Grand avenue. F. A. Cunningham was appointed a committee of one to find out what the cost of such a system would be. The clerk was instructed to answer the matter of tree planting by saying that the continuation of planting would be given consideration.

City Marshal C. C. Conrad reported that the sidewalk was broken in several places on Grand avenue and that a cement post had been placed by the sidewalk in front of the Union oil station at the corner of Baden and Linden avenues. The city attorney was instructed to look into the matter of the city's liability for accidents to any person injured by this post.

Andrew Hynding appeared and asked information as to the proposed sanitary and storm water sewer by the site of the Fontana Food Products Company, stating that the company wished to know before proceeding with its building. City Clerk McSweeney was instructed to inform the Fontana Company that the drain would be of solid concrete cement capable of withstanding a strain of 600 pounds to the square foot, and also that the city would require a right of way of twelve feet along the south boundary of the company's land.

Health Officer McGovern reported that rats have appeared in town and he wished to take steps for their extermination. He was instructed to take such steps as he considered best.

On motion of Trustee Eschelbach, seconded by Trustee Hardy, Miss Michaels, now acting as school nurse here, was also given the position as city nurse, the city paying one-half her salary or $62.50.

Claims against the city in the sum of $12.70 were read and ordered paid.

LEGAL TALENT PREPARING FOR HIGHTOWER'S TRIAL

Monday, October 3d, will see the opening in the superior court at Redwood City of the trial of William Hightower, charged with the murder of Father Heslin of Colma. Hightower will be defended by four attorneys, E. J. Emmons of Bakersfield, who will have charge of the defense, Albert Mansfield, William Laidley, and William F. Herron.

Hightower's attorneys hope to establish an alibi for their client. District Attorney Swart and Attorney Herron appeared before Judge G. H. Buck Tuesday and argued as to the questions the defense might require distant witnesses to answer. A number of lists of questions are to be sent to such witnesses, their import bearing chiefly upon the reputation for truth of Doris Shirley Putnam.

TWENTY HOMES TO BE BUILT IN SO. S. F.

LAND CO. TO CONSTRUCT MANY NEW HOUSES FOR FACTORY EM-PLOYEES; ALL WILL BE SOLD ON EASY PAYMENT TERMS.

South San Francisco is to have twenty new houses in the immediate future, according to plans announced at the last meeting of the Manufacturers' Association of this city. These houses, all of the four and five room bungalow type, are to be built by the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company and sold to factory employees. They are to be constructed on Olive avenue, on Baden avenue west of Orange, and in High School Park.

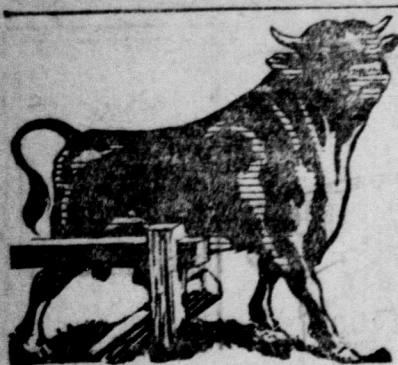

This is one of the greatest steps forward taken in this city for a long time and, it is believed, will mean more to South San Francisco than even the coming of a new industrial plant. Development in the town has been held back because of the lack of houses here. Realizing this, the Land Company worked out the plan for the new houses, to be built with its funds and sold by the factories to their employees. By the plan as announced, the bungalows as fast as completed will be turned over to the different plants and by them disposed of on easy terms to their workmen, the different industrial companies to make no profit in the transaction and to guarantee the payments on the homes. The contract for the building will be let as soon as possible to the lowest bidder, thus guaranteeing that the purchasers of the homes will secure them at the lowest possible price.

The twenty houses to be built here are in addition to the five now nearing completion in the High School Park tract. These will be finished within two weeks and placed upon the market. The Land Company states that should the twenty new homes be taken up soon after completion, a number more will be started immediately. All the houses will be modern and a variety of styles of architecture worked out in them. A committee, consisting of E. C. Peck, Andrew Hynding, and W. H. Coffinberry, recently inspected hundreds of new bungalows built in neighboring towns and selected up-to-date types to serve as models. Captain Ernest L. Norberg of Burlingame will be the architect.

This announcement of new houses to be built is interesting from several angles. For one thing, it shows that the factory heads as well as the Land Company believe that the bottom has been reached in the decline in the prices of building material. This should stimulate building by property owners of this town, as there are many who have held off waiting until prices should have reached the bottom. This should have the effect of quickly relieving the lack of homes situation that has existed here for a number of years and forced many working in local factories to live in San Francisco and neighboring towns. It will also enable many now paying rent to own their homes and get out of the class recently described by Walt Mason:

"The money you have paid for rent is gone beyond recall, though you have paid it for a tent, or for a stately hall; some landlord took it, cent by cent, and left your bundle small. Some landlord took your iron men and left you feeling sore, for you were needing every yen to buy things at the store; and every month he came again, and took away some more. You've bought that residence, alack, you poor misguided gent! You've bought the blamed place front and back, and by the strain you're bent; and still the landlord owns the shack, and bones you for the rent. Not yours the roof-tree overhead, not yours the cistern pump; the landlord owns the fence and shed, the whole works in a lump; when you can't pay him you must tread the pathway to the dump."

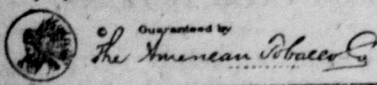

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coffinberry and daughter, Nell, and Mrs. Caroline Coffinberry and daughter, Elizabeth, spent Sunday in Oakland visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hetzler.

Dr. George T. Harding, the father of the President, said in an interview in Marion:

"I am old-fashioned, and I reared Warren to be old-fashioned, too. We believe in old-fashioned things—religion, industry, savings banks, early marriages."

Dr. Harding chuckled. Then he went on:

"We are not like Dr. Exe, the New York psychoanalyst. There was a rich young man who called on Dr. Exe and said:

"Yielding to the seduction of a moonlit beach, doc, I got engaged last month. I've done everything to break off the darn engagement. I told the girl's father I was a forger, a bank robber, a card cheat, a rake and a drunkard. Nothing, though, did any good. They hold me to my word. So now I come to you. I want you to examine me, doc, and certify that I'm incurably insane."

"Hm," said Dr. Exe. "So you don't want to get married?"

"Gosh, no; I certainly don't."

"In that case," said Dr. Exe, "I can't do what you ask. You are a perfectly sane man. But when you do want to get married call again and I'll give you your certificate."

JAPANESE VITAL STATISTICS.

Japan leads the world in proportion of divorces to marriages, it is asserted here. Unofficial reports say the divorces in 1918 numbered 56,471, and the marriages 503,236, a ratio of 12.8 divorces to each 1,000 marriages.

This is contrasted with the German rate of 21.6 per thousand, which is said to be the highest divorce rate in Europe.

Unofficial figures indicate that Japan's increase in population was cut about half in 1919 by influenza and high cost of living. The yearly increase of population has generally been estimated at 800,000.

LEGION TEAM STILL GOING STRONGLY

Team of Illinois Glass Company Given
Walloping to Tune of 30 to 7.

After taking a trip down the coast-side to Halfmoon Bay and trimming them to a tune of 8 to 5, the Bernard McCaffery Post No. 85, American Legion, baseball team returned to its home grounds and handed a fine lacing to the team of the Illinois-Pacific Glass Company of San Francisco.

The feature of the game was the heavy hitting of the local boys. It was a shame the way the visiting pitcher was treated.

Lauchere took the heavy hitting honors for the day by getting two homers and a single in four times up. Rather weak hitting for a twirler!

Hyland played a fine game at second and helped out in the slugging by getting four out of five.

Margetts, the new pitcher on the Legion team, is a sweet ball player. He has a world of stuff, is a fine fielder, and can hit them on the nose. This find strengthens the team, but the Legion players are afraid some big league scout will come around and cop him.

Fischer, a local boy, was given a tryout, and he showed up fine. With three on in the second he knocked out a three-bagger and scored a minute later on Lauchere's single.

The score:

AMERICAN CAMPANILE

THE records of past ages are authority for the fact that campaniles or bell towers became very common in Italy and especially in Rome between the eighth and eleventh centuries. Almost everybody has at some time seen a picture of that famous old one of old St. Mark's Church in Venice.

On the other hand, campaniles are rarely seen in the United States now-a-days and yet California boasts what is perhaps the most splendid example of a bell tower on the western hemisphere.

It is one of the most pleasing and graceful architectural structures one can hope to look upon and is located in the grounds of the University of California, at Berkeley. The gift of a Mrs. Sater, it cost about $200,000, is 302 feet high, approximately 36 feet square and is constructed of California granite, with the exception of the pyramidal-shaped top-piece which is of white marble.

Within the tower is an immense clock and a chime of twelve beautifully-toned bells. These precious bells were safely transported through the submarine-infested waters of the Atlantic, on their journey from the old world, during the earlier days of the world war.

These bells, also the gift of Mrs. Sater, range in weight from 349 to 4,118 pounds. The tenor or largest bell carries the following inscription, written especially for the purpose by Professor Flagg of the university:

"We ring, we chime, we toll;
Lend ye the silent part,
Some answer in the heart,
Some echo in the soul."

EDITORIALS FROM YOUR FELLOW-CITIZENS.

A well-conducted newspaper, such as The Enterprise strives to be, is always more than a distributor of news and advertising announcements. It should also convey expressions on public questions from the citizens of the territory it serves. The desire for public expression is a universal trait, and justly so. The citizen who is interested in the progress of his home town should be willing to voice his opinion on questions of the day. Recognizing this, The Enterprise has determined to publish a series of editorials by citizens of this city. The publication of these editorials does not necessarily mean that this paper is in accord with the opinions expressed and it will not be held responsible for these opinions. The Enterprise is merely acting as a vehicle of public expression. Each editorial will be signed and each writer given the privilege of writing upon any subject he may choose, the only condition being that the subject treated be of general interest and a reasonable degree of brevity observed. The first of the series appears below:

THE SO. S. F.-DALY CITY ROAD NECESSARY

The county engineer and surveyor, under the authority of the board of supervisors, is making the surveys for a highway east of the line of the Southern Pacific railroad from San Bruno to Redwood City, which road, if built, is to be built by issue of county bonds or by a specific tax upon all the property of the entire county.

The building of this road, to parallel the state highway, is advocated upon the ground that it will materially relieve the present and constantly increasing congestion of travel and traffic upon the state highway.

It is doubtless true that the proposed road would afford some measure of relief to the overcrowded state highway between San Bruno and Redwood City, but it would not relieve congestion at the neck of the bottle, where it is greatest, that is, between San Francisco and San Bruno.

The logical and true economical terminals for such a road should be Daly City and Dumbarton.

The right of way for such a road from Daly City through South San Francisco to San Bruno can be had free of cost to the county, and is the shortest and best route for the highway.

The construction of a road from Daly City, or from the oil station between Daly City and Colma to South San Francisco, has been under consideration by the board of supervisors, said piece of road or link to be part of a county road from Daly City to Redwood City, but to be built only upon the condition that South San Francisco build, or provide the money to build, the portion of such road within the municipal limits of South San Francisco.

This attitude of the supervisors is unreasonable as well as unjust. Should the city build that portion of the road within its limits, the county road would neither be continuous nor under one management.

To attain the highest state of efficiency, a county road or system of roads must be not only connecting and continuous, but must be under a single management, as has been demonstrated by state highway conditions at Mayfield.

It is unjust, because it involves double taxation. It would require the people of South San Francisco to pay the entire cost for the construction of that portion of the county road within their city, and to be taxed for the construction of the road outside their city. A statement of the proposition exposes its unfairness.

Impartial justice and equal taxation require that a county road constructed by an issue of bonds, or by special tax based on all the property of the county, be built by the county through municipalities as well as outside of their limits.

E. E. CUNNINGHAM.

A GOOD EDITORIAL

In the columns of the Blue and White, the organ of the South San Francisco High School, which appears weekly in this paper, there is an editorial this week which any man, woman or child can read with profit. It is headed, "The Right Thing in the Right Way," and is an appeal for better work in the school. It is applied to school life, but can just as truly be applied to life outside the school. The editor of The Enterprise compliments the editor of the Blue and White on that editorial. It shows a splendid spirit.

KEPT BUBBLE FROM BURSTING

Too little credit has been given banks for helping this country readjust. They have been cursed for curtailing credit, but the fact remains that in coming down from the dizzy heights of peak prices, few failures of consequence have been recorded in this country and the banking system stood the process without a tremble.

Considering the change from a war to a peace basis with its drastic turnover in character and methods of production, the safe return to a normal basis has been remarkable and should put to shame the calamity howlers.

Back of it all stands a banking system which was able to stem the tide of inflation and let the wind out of the bubble without bursting it.—The Manufacturer.

LET ALL PAY TAXES

The taxation shoe begins to pinch harder as the enormous war tax levies must be met out of peacetime profits.

The demand that special privileges, such as tax exemption for many kinds of securities, be removed, is becoming nation-wide.

Over $30,000,000,000 of such investments are now held by bond buyers who escape paying any tax on their income, thus doubling the tax rate on productive industry and the citizen who is working to make a living today.

"Were the tax exemption privilege entirely withdrawn," said George A. Taylor, president of the Chicago Mortgage Bankers' Association, "there would be approximately sixteen billion dollars, aside from Liberty bonds, amenable to taxation. This, at the normal income tax rate, would yield nearly a billion dollars annually, relieve the people of a huge tax burden, and divert amazingly large sums from non-productive to productive uses."

Unless this tax-exemption privilege is curtailed, increasingly large sums will be withdrawn from all lines of productive investment and placed in tax-exempt securities, thus reducing the chances for employment on one hand while increasing the individual tax burden on the other.—The Manufacturer.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.

LEWIS WETZEL, "DEATH WIND OF THE DELAWARES"

Many of the great scouts did not become Indian fighters until they were men, but Lewis Wetzel started early. He killed his first Indian when he was only thirteen years old. Wetzel was born in Virginia in 1752. His father moved to the present site of Wheeling, W. Va., and was killed there by the Indians before the eyes of his sons. Lewis swore eternal enmity against all Redskins.

One day while he and his brother were roaming in the woods they were attacked by Indians. Lewis killed one of the savages and the next instant was hit by a bullet which carried away a piece of his breast bone. Both boys were taken captive. That night while the Indians slept, Wetzel worked loose the thongs which bound him and then unfastened his brother.

After the boys had fled for about a mile they discovered that their moccasins were torn to shreds. Leaving his brother in hiding, Lewis returned to the Indian camp and, undetected by the sleeping savages, robbed them of two pairs of moccasins as well as a gun and some powder and lead.

The next morning the Indians were hot on their trail and soon were close upon them. As the Indians approached, the boys stepped out of the trail into a clump of bushes, allowing their pursuers to speed past, and then they followed. Soon they heard the Indians coming back and again they stepped into the bushes and hid. The Wetzel boys played this dangerous game of hide-and-seek several times before they finally eluded the savages and returned in safety to their home.

When Lewis Wetzel grew older he crossed over into Ohio and soon became one of the best-known scouts in the country.

Wetzel was called "The Death Wind" by the Delaware whom he hated particularly. More than once a Delaware warrior trembled with fear as he heard a shrill, moaning cry echoing through the forest, for it usually was followed soon afterward by a shot from the scout's deadly weapon which ended the Redskin's life.

In his later years Wetzel lost the respect of many people because he began killing all Indians he met, whether hostile or friendly, and several times he was imprisoned for shooting members of peaceable tribes. In his last days he became a lonely, bitter old man until death came to him in 1808.

LOCALS

Work on the streets is proceeding apace, and already gives promise of what a change in them for good may be expected when completed.

Work on the Union Oil station is proceeding rapidly and excellent progress is being made. Completion is expected within the next six weeks.

Superintendent Knight of the San Bruno schools is meeting with great success in forming a school band, which should prove of great value to this town in the future.

The regular monthly whist party will be given next Tuesday evening at Carpenters' Hall by Homestead No. 910, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, at which eight prizes will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Caturri celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their marriage recently, at which time a large number of their friends attended to offer their congratulations on the happy event.

Billie Meehan, a petty officer in the United States navy, has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Zilkie, in Third Addition for the past two weeks, returning to his unit at San Diego during the past few days.

Mrs. F. H. Smith has had a number of her prize chickens stolen by some nocturnal sneak thief. Other chicken coops in San Bruno have also been visited, and every effort will be made by the city marshal to capture the miscreant.

Don't forget to attend the whist party to be given at Carpenters' Hall Saturday night by Mrs. F. Schmidt for the benefit of the building fund of St. John's Church. A large attendance on this occasion is expected. Eight prizes will be competed for.

State Manager Elliott of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen visited the local homestead Tuesday in company with his wife. He and Mrs. Elliott both gave interesting talks on the activities of the order and in relation to new policies about to be issued.

The California Restaurant, of which Mrs. Flynn is the proprietress, has been repainted and renovated and now presents a most pleasing appearance. Mrs. Flynn has leased the lower California Hall, which she intends to remodel and form part of the restaurant.

The remaining pulls in the tug-of-war match will take place at California Hall Saturday night, on which occasion the Volunteer Firemen will first pull the Woodmen, and the winner will then take on the Yeomen, who won from the latter on Admission Day after a pull of twenty-five minutes.

DADDIES' CLUB HOLDS MEETING MONDAY

A meeting of the Daddies' Club took place at California Hall Monday night in conjunction with the finance committee, at which time it was expected that a complete financial statement relative to the Admission Day celebration would be forthcoming. This, however, was impossible, but it is hoped that within the next two weeks a complete return of the financial end of the celebration will be forthcoming, meanwhile it may be said that there will be a considerable sum to be divided between the organizations taking part.

ST. BRUNO PARISH PICNIC MOST SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The St. Bruno parish picnic and dance last Sunday was, as was to be expected, an outstanding success, in spite of the fact that the dinner and dancing had to be given under cover in the California Hall on account of the uncertain weather conditions prevailing instead of in the grounds of Uncle Tom's Cabin, where, however, the races scheduled on the program were run later in the afternoon. The affair was most enjoyable and added considerably to St. Bruno's exchequer, which is ever open to any needy person of the community, irrespective of their religious affiliations.

YEOMEN PLANNING ANNUAL DINNER FOR OCTOBER 11

Everything is proceeding well for the annual dinner of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, Homestead No. 910, which is to take place Tuesday, October 11th, at the Bellevue Tavern, mine host Batmale promising a dinner to make the most inveterate gourmand desirous of attending. All expecting to be present should notify the local secretary, Mrs. Laumeister, so that reservations may be made. The Lady Rowena (Mrs. Phil Clark), who has all the arrangements for this event in hand, is working hard on the details involved, and it will be through no fault of hers if it does not prove one of the most successful affairs of this kind ever taking place in San Bruno.

PLAN FANCY COSTUME DANCE AT CALIF. HALL

All the organizations that took part in the Admission Day celebration have concluded to give a free dance and entertainment at California Hall Saturday evening, October 1st, at which time those invited, for it is to be a strictly invitational affair, will be expected to show up in costume, otherwise admission to the hall will be denied.

Al Wedell is chairman of the committee of arrangements, and has as committeemen working in conjunction with him Paul Ledwith, C. Carlson, R. Marshall, Ode Osborne, Les Empey, and A. S. W. Grundy which is sufficient evidence that a thoroughly good program will be provided for this occasion.

Greece and the Greeks

Athens and the Acropolis.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Greece, in carrying on in Asia Minor, against the Turkish Nationalists, what may be called the only major war now in progress, attracts attention anew to the prolonged presence of the Greeks on the world stage.

There are few parallels to the striking racial phenomenon of Hellenic continuity throughout the vicissitudes of 2,000 years. Modern research has penetrated the dark byways of medieval Greek history, and we now know that the Greeks, whatever their temporary fate, have preserved unbroken the thread of their national existence.

The firmest bond which unites the Greek of today with his illustrious forebears of the golden age is the Greek language, the essential elements of which remain as they were in the days when the tongue served as the medium of the noblest poetry and the sublimest philosophy which the race has yet produced. This tongue traces its unbroken lineage back through medieval and New Testament Greek to the classic speech of Plato and of his contemporaries.

And yet, with all this continuity of language, there exists now in Greece a linguistic condition of affairs around which centers a controversy at once comic or tragic; for there are in Greece two languages, or, rather, the one language in two forms—one written by the newspapers, spoken by the educated classes, and used in parliamentary debates and in public documents, including the Scriptures, the circulation of which is regulated by law; and the other a vernacular used by the masses of the people, containing many words of foreign origin, especially Turkish and Italian, arising from those periods of foreign occupation, with a much simplified grammar rarely reduced to writing, except for private communications. The former is the cultured tongue; the latter the popular idiom; and between the two there rages a merciless warfare, in which fanatical students of the university have lost their lives, ministers their portfolios, and a Metropolitan of Athens his miter.

Greece of Today Almost New.

Greece of today looks back only three generations, if one places its origin in the war for independence, which was concluded by the protocol of London in 1830; and, witnessing the progress which in that brief span has been made in a land of such sparse resources, one cannot see how praise can be withheld from a people who have accomplished so much.

When the city of Athens passed from Turkish control and was designated as the capital of the new free kingdom of Greece, it was a mere handful of wretched huts clustered about the Acropolis. Today it is a thoroughly modern city, with splendid streets, magnificent public buildings, handsome residences, attractive parks, and most of the modern improvements of which western cities boast. The building of this city alone in a land of such scanty resources is fairly comparable to the development of our own rich West, and as meritorious when all the circumstances are considered. Indeed, had the Greek of today nothing to his credit save the building of the attractive capital of his nation, that alone would be sufficient to rank him among the constructive agencies of the modern world.

In this city of old memories and new hopes, Greek life centers now as in its classic days, and here ancient and modern Greece are inextricably mingled in a curious medley of modernity and antiquity, which colors the most ordinary of every-day affairs. On every hand arise the shattered monuments of its splendid past, and even the tiniest fragments which serve to link the life of the present with the days that are gone are most carefully preserved.

Guards Its Antiquities.

The Greek government is keenly alive to its responsibility for the safeguarding of its antiquities, and the department of archaeology, under the charge of the ministry of education and religion, is painstakingly organized and prudently administered. The museums at Athens are handsomely housed, conveniently arranged, accurately catalogued, and open to inspection and study without fee, this latter being a point of great pride with Athenians. In addition there are now, at various points in the kingdom where research is going on, smaller museums devoted to the preservation of the treasures of the locality.

Crowning the city of Athens stands the sheer and mighty rock of the Acropolis, dominated by the Parthenon, matchless even in its ruins, which projects the changeless purity of its lines against the background of the changing centuries, which have made of it in turn the shrine of the vestal, the church of the Christian, the mosque of the Moslem, and now and ever the ideal of all lovers of the beautiful.

Near at hand cluster the chief remnants of the glory that was Greece; on the one side the tiny gem of the Temple of the Wingless Victory, so chaste and delicate in its proportions and outline, and on the other the Erechtheum, with its unique porch of the Caryatides.

Hard by the stairs of the imposing Propylaea rises the sturdy rock of the Hill of Mars, whence St. Paul declared the unknown God and incidentally took the Athenian measure for all intervening time. At a little distance stands the rough-hewn Bema, where Demosthenes and Ctesiphon strove in matchless phrase, while just below rise the ivory-tinted columns of the Temple of Theseus, best preserved of all the classic remains.

Against such a background it is easy to project the ties of sentiment which bind the life of the Greek of today to that of the classic worthies from whom he claims direct descent. With only a slight shock one will learn that the man who gives him his morning coffee bears the tremendous name of Themistocles. And yet it is difficult to visualize the modern Athenian with those who once walked his streets.

It is only in the islands or deep in the country, where the Albanian flood which swept across the Attic plain has never reached, that one finds the facial lineaments and the bodily grace which the ancient sculptor has taught the modern world as being common to all Greeks of classic time.

Its Agriculture Backward.

Greece is essentially a land of agriculture, pre-eminently intended to be such; but, owing to the tremendous drain by emigration from the rural districts, the progress of agriculture has been painfully deficient. In many places the land is tilled only by women and girls. Many of the men have gone off to America.

Many find the Athenian climate agreeable. Cold winds there are, to be sure, in winter, blowing down from the snow-capped hills above the town or blowing up from the sea at Phaleron; but there are no frosts; the roses bloom during every month of the year; oranges ripen in the open air, one may pick his breakfast fruit from the trees outside his window. The summer heat is easily endurable, the absence of rain removing the humidity which makes American midsummer so intolerable. One cannot truthfully say that midsummer nights in Athens are really cool, but there is a sensible difference from the heat of the day and a freshness which always makes sleep possible.

At the beginning of the hot season, there is usually an exodus of the court, the diplomats and the wealthy from Athens. To take their places there flock to Athens and to the seaside hotels at Phaleron and to villas and resorts at Kephissia-in-the-hills numbers of rich Greeks from Asia Minor and from Egypt; and the whole city reverses the order of its winter life, turning night into day and spending most of the hours between sunset and sunrise out of doors. Everywhere about the town, on the roofs of clubs or hotels, in the gardens or on the terraces of restaurants, beneath the pepper trees of the parks, and even in the streets, tables are spread, and probably as many as 100,000 people dine in the open air each night of an Athenian summer.

Throughout Greece—and indeed throughout the entire Balkan region—English is much heard, because of the great numbers of Greeks who have returned home from America; and few travelers in the Peloponnese will fail to recall at almost every railroad station the eager face thrust in at the carriage window and quivering with the demand, "You fellows from America?"

AMAZING STRENGTH OF FIR AS CONSTRUCTION MATERIAL

The Southern Pacific Company is replacing with steel and concrete the old wooden drawbridge at Albany, Ore., which has carried freight and passenger traffic on the Yaquina branch for some thirty years. The old bridge had two 150-foot Howe trusses and one 260-foot Howe truss draw span.

This was the longest wooden draw span in the world and it illustrates the strength of Douglas fir, the great construction timber of the Northwest.

Roofed-over bridges of this material are being built on western highways in competition with steel, and when properly protected they render as long or longer service than the steel bridge.

Cleaning It Up.

In a neighbor's house, not long since, little Georgie for the first time saw a face vibrator.

At home, shortly afterward, the youngster said:

"Mrs. Umson's face must get awful dirty, mother."

"Why do you think that?" the mother asked.

"Because," replied Georgie, "while I was there I saw her trying to fix it up with a vacuum cleaner."—Youngstown Telegram.

Truth Will Triumph.

A merchant had advertised for a boy. Late in the afternoon, a red-headed, freckle-faced, blue-eyed, honest-looking boy applied for the job.

"Do you like to work?" asked the merchant.

"No, sir!" replied the boy.

"Then you can have the job," replied the merchant. "You are the first boy who's been here today who didn't lie about it and say yes."—Washington Post.

Politeness.

Dickie's father was shocked to see his son kick his little playmate.

"Why did you kick John?" he asked severely.

"I am tired of playing with him. I want him to go home," was Dickie's answer.

"Then why didn't you ask him to go home?"

Venus Returns to Her Mate

By HAROLD SINCLAIRE

Marie Powers had met young Aldis Blake at a village party two months previous. There never seemed a pair so mated as they to one another. After a week of picnic pleasures and woodland roamings that now came up before Marie's imagination like some beautiful dream, Aldis returned to his home, fifty miles distant.

Young Blake made a practical fad of pigeons. He boasted the ownership of "Silver Wing," a carrier that had won the prize for the longest sustained flight on record. The week he spent at Wilford had been occupied in training some of these pets. The evening of his departure he had sauntered down to the Powers home, a small portable cage in his hand.

"I wonder if you would accept a gift from me, Miss Powers?" he said, as they sat in the garden in the moonlight, and Marie thrilled at the tenderness in his tones.

"I should cherish any reminder of the pleasant hours we have spent together," she said frankly.

"Then I am going to leave Juno with you."

Aldis removed both doves from the cage. Venus cooed in a melancholy way as her partner was carried into the house by Marie. The bird would have flown frantically to the company of its mate if Aldis had not restrained it.

"Some day," said Aldis softly, as he arose to take leave of Marie, "I am going to send Venus with a message. I have every reason to believe that within a month the great family lawsuit, which involves a large fortune, will be decided in my favor. Should that come about, as I say, I shall send Venus with a message to you under her wing."

Marie fluttered, herself, like some frightened dove. She hung her head, understanding, but mute.

"When I do, Miss Powers," proceeded Aldis in an intense tone, "will you send Juno back with a reply?"

"Yes!" whispered Marie, and he was gone with a tender pressure of her hand, carrying away her heart with him and leaving his own behind.

One month, two months—no word, no glad visit for Juno from her absent mate. That evening, however, as every evening, Marie sat by the open window, thinking, hoping that the flutter of welcome wings might break the long vigil.

Marie had closed the window as the rain began to fall. Suddenly there seemed to be a louder sound than the splatter of the drops. It was like a tap-tap-tap! Then some heavy object beat against the pane. Marie went to the window, opened it. With rain-splashed wings dragged and storm-beaten, the carrier dove, Venus, flapped into the room.

One hour later Marie was speeding down the road leading southwards, mounted on a bicycle. She had found under the wing of the carrier dove a card in the writing of Aldis Blake. "I am a prisoner at the Cascade mill," it read, "near Riverton. Help."

Marie had heard Aldis speak of desperate enemies more than once.

Her cousin and herself had been regular bicyclists in the past. Her suit was in the garret, her machine in the stable loft. Her dauntless mind was soon made up, and now Marie was dashing down the country highway.

It must have been 11 o'clock when she saw the cross-roads lights a mile away, and the city glow beyond. Then, nearer, towards the riverside, a spark or radiance recalled something.

"The Cascade mill," exclaimed Marie, in a sudden flash of memory. "Why, that lonely building where the light is must be it. Cousin and I made this run more than once, and— I remember now!"

Marie approached the old rookery. A light guided her. She traced it to a room on the lower floor. She saw a rufous-faced man trying a locked door. Then he took up a bottle from a table, put on his hat and started apparently for the tavern at the cross roads.

Marie was in the lighted room as soon as the man was out of sight. She noticed the padlocked door beyond, found a heavy iron bar, burst in the door, and extending the lantern saw—her lover, handcuffed, lying on a heap of straw.

"You," shouted Aldis in amazement. "Yes," fluttered Marie—"your message—the dove."

"What! Venus flew to you instead of home, as I expected?" exclaimed Aldis. "Ah, I see—for her mate."

Just as Marie had sought hers! She led him from the place and to the nearest farmhouse. The telephone was called into requisition, some officers arrived in an automobile from the city. Then Marie returned home, and—waited.

It was fortunate that Aldis Blake had his pet dove with him when captured. A scheming lawyer had plotted for his absence when the lawsuit came up. He was foiled. Aldis gained the suit and a fortune. He had won something more precious, however, he told Marie that same day when he asked her to become his wife.

THE RIGHT THING IN THE RIGHT WAY

In any high school we have three classes of students. Those who do not do the right thing, those who do the right thing, and those who do the right thing in the right way.

Let us define these three classes. The first, those who do not do the right thing. They come to high school because they have to; they get their lessons because the teacher, by coaxing, persuasion, urging, and sometimes punishing, makes them do it. We know what they are like and every teacher and student knows who they are. They need no further reference.

Then we have the second class, those who do the right thing. They come to high school because an education means money. They do the work because they have to get a grade and good grades mean graduation, but they do the work carelessly, any way to get by, just so they pass. Take, for instance, a boy mowing a lawn. He does the work, but he does not lap over far enough in the cutting. He does not trim up close to the sidewalk and leaves a strip next to the house uncut. Are we, in our school work, leaving strips that are uncut? Be careful! You may not notice it, but others notice it and judge you accordingly.

Then we have those who do the work and do it right. They come to school because they love it. They study and work in order to get the most out of their school life, not to earn money alone, but to enable them to leave school and do a work to help better the world and men in that world. Some say they are naturally bright. Perhaps they are, but there are just as many who are bright who are in the second class and even the first. They have better lessons because they work. They aren't afraid to miss a good show if they have a lesson to get. They aren't usually found on the street with some boy or young man at 12 o'clock at night when they should be at home, or a boy isn't found with some girl at that hour. They are sometimes called "teacher's pets." Why? Because they do the work the teachers assign—because they have to?—no, willingly. They do a little extra sometimes. They do the work well. Why wouldn't a teacher be pleased? If you were in any line of work and couldn't get people to do anything you asked them to do, who did the work carelessly, who wouldn't take time to use a little brain power, could you like them as you do the person who does the best he possibly can?

Which class are you in? Are we good pupils or do we do the right thing in the right way? You and I can be in any class we wish to put ourselves. Let's get a little "ginger," or "pep," or whatever you want to call it, and get into the third class. The school depends on what we individually make it. What our school is, means what we are. Therefore, let's make our school the best and, thereby, make ourselves the best.

RAGS! BOTTLES! SACQUES!

Come one, come all, who have received invitations to the "Old Clothes Dance" on Friday evening, September 23d, at the high school auditorium. Be mindful that to array yourself in "glad raiment" and proceed to a ball is out of date, but to hastily don one's "old duds" constitutes the latest scream from gay Poree.

A committee, consisting of Miss Bernice Holbrook (chairman), Haydn McMills, Grace Robinson, Marguerite Kiessling, Rosalind Gsell, with Miss Clifford, faculty adviser, will have charge of the dance favors.

Only one item of their intentions has leaked into the editor's ears—namely, there will be one dance entitled the "Rag Bag" for which the favors are to be drawn by each guest from a sack containing "choice decorations"—these same to be worn.

In conclusion, let me say: Some will be in rags and some in tags. And some in kitchen gowns. So, tata till Friday night. Ye Editor.

SCHOOL PRESENTED WITH CUP.

On Friday morning Mr. Cavassa presented the school with a beautiful silver cup. It was given in honor of the girls' volley-ball team, which won last year's championship. This was the first championship ever won in the history of this school, but we all hope it is not to be the last.

The girls who helped win the cup and the rest of the students take much

PRACTICAL RECIPES

WELL-MADE LEMON PIE IS ECONOMICAL AND GOOD

What dessert could be more tempting than a perfectly browned lemon pie? The following recipe, tested in the experimental kitchen of the United States Department of Agriculture, can be relied upon:

2 tablespoons cornstarch.
1 cup sugar.
1 cup boiling water.
4 tablespoons lemon juice.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 egg yolks.
Speck of salt (about 1-16 teaspoon).
Grated rind of half a lemon.
2 egg whites and
2 tablespoons sugar for meringue.

Mix the cornstarch and sugar in a sauce pan and stir in the hot water. Cook, stirring constantly, until it thickens, and boil five minutes. Add latter, well-beaten yolks, salt, lemon juice, grated rind. Cook about one minute longer. Pour into crust previously baked. Cover with a meringue made of the egg whites beaten stiff, then with two tablespoons of sugar, and brown in oven.

TEACH CHILDREN TO WASH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Children should have fruits, also celery, tomatoes, and salads not only to give variety in their school lunches, but especially to supply the vitamins and other food elements necessary for healthy growth, agree nutrition specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. When they eat any of these uncooked foods at home it is probable that the mother has washed the fruit or vegetable properly before serving it. All market produce needs washing to remove dirt and dust, bacteria, and sometimes particles of spray residue. The best fruits and usually the best-looking fruits are those from trees which have been properly sprayed while the fruit was in its early stages, and sometimes the spray may not have weathered off the fruit before harvest. Children should not be given money to buy their own fruit from hucksters or stands unless there are facilities at school for washing it. They should be drilled in the practice of washing what they eat of these uncooked products, as a matter of ordinary cleanliness.

HOUSECLEANING IS NOT HARD IF THIS PROGRAM IS ADOPTED

Housecleaning need not be the bugbear it has long been regarded in many households. If the work is carefully planned, if the kind of furnishings that are easy to keep clean are chosen and handled in the right way, and if provision is made for keeping all the dirt possible out of the house, there will be no need for the upheavals that result in discomfort to the entire household. The following are good rules by which to organize the housecleaning:

Keep dirt out of the house by cleaning the walks, steps, porches, and sills regularly and often, by screening windows and doors near the ground, and by insisting on having muddy shoes and coats cleaned, or left outside.

Lessen the number of dust-collecting places, such as unnecessary cupboards, grooved and carved woodwork, floors with cracks, rough-finished walls, elaborately carved and upholstered furniture, superfluous draperies, and bric-a-brac.

Remove dirt frequently and systematically. This keeps the house and furnishings in better condition, and makes the need of heavy cleaning less frequent.

Clean by taking the dirt away, not by scattering it, to settle again elsewhere.

Do heavy cleaning a little at a time to avoid the hard work and discomforts of the old-fashioned spring and fall housecleaning.

Have a supply of good cleaning tools such as your work calls for, and keep them in good order in a convenient place.

Use water and cleaning agents sparingly because otherwise they may spoil finishes and weaken glue, paste, or cement.

Watch for troublesome insects and animals, and take prompt measures to get rid of them if they appear.

Make all the family help by leaving things where they belong, and in good condition.

PEPPERS MAKE TASTY DISHES WITH TOMATO AND ONION

Both green and red sweet peppers add zest and pungency to other dishes. It is worth while to put some up for winter use, either in pickle combinations or alone. Chutneys, chile sauces, and other relishes are better for the addition of peppers. Fresh sliced sweet peppers and canned pimientos flavor as well as garnish most salads, whether vegetable, fruit, cheese, or meat.

The United States Department of Agriculture recommends the following recipes in which peppers are used:

Stuffed Baked Peppers

1 cup minced cold ham, chopped
bacon or cold chicken.
1 tablespoon chopped parsley.
1 cup toasted bread crumbs or cooked rice.
1 tablespoon chopped onion.
1/2 teaspoon pepper.
1 cup tomatoes cut into cubes.
Salt to taste.

Other cold meats may be ground, seasoned, and mixed with an equal quantity of bread crumbs or cooked rice, moistened with a slightly beaten egg, cream, or tomato, and substituted for either of the fillings.

Take six whole medium-sized fresh green peppers or canned whole pimientos. If fresh peppers are used, slice a round off the top, remove seeds, and save the top to replace. Soak in cold water (two tablespoons salt to one quart water) for half an hour; rinse in clear, cold water. Drain, press in the filling, replace the top, and fasten it in place with wooden toothpicks. Put the stuffed peppers in a baking pan, pouring around them enough water to cover the bottom of the pan one-half inch. Bake in a medium hot oven for twenty to thirty minutes. When canned pimientos are used, remove from cans, discard liquor, and allow the pimientos to stand in a bowl for about 15 minutes to aerate before using, thus giving them a better flavor. Stuff as for green peppers and bake for ten to fifteen minutes.

Instead of actually stuffing the peppers some cooks like to chop them up and mix them with the stuffing in a baking dish, which is then sprinkled with crumbs and browned in the oven. This dish is tasty and unusual even when the meat is omitted. Individual earthenware ramekins may be filled with the mixture in the same way.

Creole Chicken or Jambolaya

1 medium-sized fowl.
2 cups tomato.
1 cup okra.
1 cup chopped sweet peppers.
1/4 cup chopped onion.
1/2 cup rice.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 cup boiling water.
1 tablespoon fat.

Dress the fowl and cut into joints. Melt the fat, add onion and pepper. Cook for a few minutes to develop flavor. Then add salt, tomato, and okra, and simmer for ten minutes. Place layers of the chicken, vegetable mixture, and rice in cooking vessel until all is used. Pour over this one cup boiling water. Simmer for one-half hour and put in fireless cooker for three hours without the hot disk or two hours with it. Additional seasoning of ham or bacon, parsley and bay leaf, may be used.

Spanish Soup

4 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons green pepper (chopped).
4 tablespoons red pepper (chopped).
1/2 medium-sized onion (chopped).
4 tablespoons flour.
5 pints stock.
1 quart tomatoes (canned stewed).
1/2 tablespoon salt.
1/2 tablespoon pepper.
1 teaspoon vinegar.
1 bay leaf.

Cook chopped peppers and onion in the butter for five minutes; add flour, heated stock, and strained tomatoes; strain, season, add cooked macaroni, and just before serving add the vinegar.

The peppers and onion may be minced by putting them through a meat grinder.
